Computer Science E-1: The Sequel?

Despite its name, Computer Science E-1 is more about technology than it is about computer science.

Computer Science 50, however, is an introduction to computer science (and programming)....

Computer Science 50: Introduction to Computer Science I Harvard College
Fall 2007

The Podcast

"Computer Science 50: Introduction to Computer Science I is a first course in computer science at Harvard College for concentrators and non-concentrators alike. More than just teach you how to program, this course teaches you how to think more methodically and how to solve problems more effectively. As such, its lessons are applicable well beyond the boundaries of computer science itself. That the course does teach you how to program, though, is perhaps its most empowering return. With this skill comes the ability to solve real-world problems in ways and at speeds beyond the abilities of most humans."

on iTunes
`http://www.fas.harvard.edu/~cs50/itunes/`

RSS Feed
`http://www.fas.harvard.edu/~cs50/podcast/`

Website
`http://www.fas.harvard.edu/~cs50/`