The diagram illustrates the vertical alignment of text using four horizontal dashed red lines. Red arrows point from text labels to these lines: 'Cap height or cap line' points to the top line, 'Baseline' points to the bottom line, 'X height or midline' points to the line between the baseline and the cap line, and 'Descender height or beardline' points to the line below the baseline. The sentence 'A helicopter is a' is positioned such that the capital 'A' reaches the cap line, the lowercase 'h' reaches the midline, and the lowercase 'p' descends to the beardline.
